

To be original for us means to be leaning towards one's origin. Marble is our origin as well as being an extraordinarily unique material. The unique shape, the primordial nature, everything can always be traced back to its origin. We have followed the path of marble, mixing the contemporary modern with the history from which it descends, recent technology with the oldest tools, style with the rock that inspired it, design with the intrinsic light that this material possesses and is capable of diffusing in any ambience.

US

Welcome. This catalogue is meant to be a journey that shows who we are and where we come from, putting our products, our world, our history centre stage.

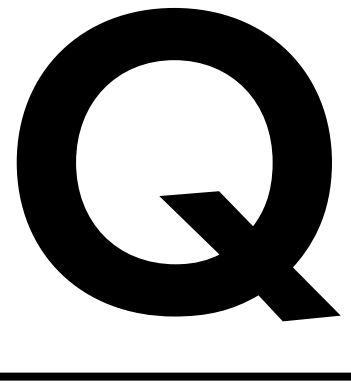

US. Claudia and Simone. Two siblings who have been running the family business since 2004. From our father Luciano we have inherited not only the company, but also the culture and the respect for work, the passion for what we do, and the desire to make this passion known beyond the confines of our beloved Tuscany. We come from a generation of marble workers. Our father started working marble when he was just a boy, and we too learnt words like marble and travertine early on, we gained experience in quarries and learnt about tools for quarrying and the subsequent processing.

Ours is a demanding job, in which fatigue, heat and cold are part of everyday life. But this is not a burden to us because our drive is made up of energy, of the desire to preserve the spirit of craftsmanship that we inherited from our father, the same spirit that we pass on to our children day after day. With the passing of time, the need grew within us to create a more exclusive, more defined, more contemporary product that would move away from the deep-rooted idea of the 'heaviness' of the marble furnishing element, but that would be a beautiful design object regardless, where the marble, the material, could give a strong signal of added value. We therefore availed ourselves of the collaboration of experienced designers, who helped us not only to understand the market and its changes in relation to customer needs more directly, but also to be more aware of what we do and what we want to be. We have embarked on a path that starts from the individual marble table and stretches all the way to the complete furnishing of the living area, the place where every family meets, lives and interacts.

The collaboration with Maurizio Manzoni resulted in the Lenzi Home Collection. Lenzi is our brand, our name, simply US. Claudia and Simone Lenzi

Q for Quarries. Italy, materials marble, travertine. The Company is located in the heart of Tuscany between Pisa and Florence. Italy, Tuscany, and our cities have always been seen as the cradle of art, with its masterpieces and monuments that enhance the beauty of the materials that the nature of our places gives us. From the mountains near Carrara, a Tuscan town an hour's drive from our company, we extract the famous Bianco Carrara, which takes its name from the town of origin. Carrara White is both a specific and a generic term. In the first case, this name refers to the white marble par excellence, a material with excellent qualities, which have made it known throughout the world and of which one can admire a shining example in the monuments that stand out in Piazza dei Miracoli in Pisa. But we also refer to Bianco di Carrara to define all the highly prized types of white that are extracted from the same mountains: Bianco Calacatta, Michelangelo, Statuario and others. Marble, like Roman Travertine, has always accompanied our history. This material as imperfect as it is unique that nature has lent us. Lenzi uses only first choice marbles and travertine selected directly by Simone Lenzi in the best quarries. Marble is a unique and precious material that demands respect and we, thanks to the expertise we have acquired over the years, are able to work it skilfully.

Q for Quarries but also Q for Quality. Quality is what Lenzi guarantees for its products.

In our factory, we blend the long experience to shape this wonderful material with the contemporary design and our artisan skill to work this imperfect but handsome material the nature gives us.

C for Craftmanship Working with marble is not easy and requires in-depth knowledge of the characteristics of this precious material.

Like every material existing in nature, marble and travertine present themselves in all their imperfect beauty, in a state of matter that requires successive stages of selection and processing before it can shine with all its strength. There is a starting selection that requires profound experience to recognise what can be considered a defect and what should be considered a peculiarity of the material. It is precisely the peculiarity, the unique feature, that creates the material's singular beauty. The material itself is a mixture of dusts, sediments, dusts that have settled on the earth and crystallised over time, over millennia. And every single piece of material tells us what happened to the planet at that specific place on earth and at a time far in the past. That is why owning a marble product means owning a unique piece of nature's history.

The only one of its kind and represent a unique part of the human being heritage, millions of years in the making. The inherently imperfect nature of marble requires craftsmanship and an 'ad hoc' finish according to the specific natural characteristics of each piece. Therein lies the essence of our work, being able to adapt our extensive experience and knowledge to the care of the individual detail. The ability to work on a natural material to maximise its beauty and uniqueness. With passion.

Made in Italy. With care and love. For You.

M

The LENZI brand wanted to go beyond the approach of offering products interpreted as single moments and focus instead on a wide-ranging collection concept. The desire to create a collection in which each product was in a semantic correlation with the others was a fundamental cornerstone of the new course. A true total living project. To achieve this goal, the Lenzi siblings, Claudia and Simone, entrusted the architect Maurizio Manzoni with the Art Direction and development of the designs for the new course and the new concept, which started from an analysis of the brand's roots and remains traditionally known for its use of MARBLE as an essential material, and of contemporary living trends.

The LENZI HOME COLLECTION mood was born: a capsule collection developed with harmony and an innovative aesthetic taste. Every piece is a work of art, characterised by a sophisticated design, embellished with the most refined varieties of marble and finishes. The designed environment is delicate, elegant: the products are exalted by using high-end materials. The typical peculiarities of the matter have been recovered from the company background and territory, then enhanced by artisanal workmanship of artistic elegance. This also represents the Made in Italy spirit, universally known and appreciated.

Maurizio Manzoni strove to exalt the primitive spirit inherent in matter. Elements such as stone and wood naturally shaped by the ages and from which the skilful hands of craftsmen have learnt over the centuries to take inspiration in their creations. Designing, then, is nothing other than showing how, thanks to the skilful and conscious use of the substances made available by nature, man can surround himself with products with which to enter into synergy. To propose a conciliatory environment, capable of placing the human being at the centre of his or her own private space. This is the LENZI commitment, which makes all this available to the needs of home living.

Be original. Learning about origins by observing the present time through the lens of the past. And here is where we see a table which almost looks like a porthole overlooking sidereal space, even if its strong legs are like roots still planted on the Earth. A marble table. Black and all-encompassing, like the night of streaming lights of the metropolis. Or white and spiritual, like a daydreamed time travel. Or hybrid, like materials that envelop fragments of this precious material and highlight its visual effect.

A temple inspired by past, present and future, the deity it houses and protects is in fact Time. Neat marble columns are reflected in a metal shield. Atena, in fact, explores a classical vision of balance and harmony, but contrasts it with a modern idea of strength and stability.

CLEPSY

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Time and the art of men are the protagonists, with hours and days spent shaping the material, attending to the details of its form. Clepsy is a new hourglass, a medium in which time flows in two directions: the horizontal one, severe and rational, and the vertical one, made of passions and moods.

TOHO

Design Maurizio Manzoni

This "oriental treasure" is a secret of neatness and elegance. A thin line draws a smooth surface that surmounts pillars. The visual impact lends a feeling of inner peace, its image conveys calm to the scene. Toho shows no excess, no unreasonable pomp, but a refined balance of forms.

ZEN 2.0

Design Maurizio Manzoni

It stems from a conscious idea of sobriety that puts itself centre stage. The essence of Zen 2.0 is faithful to a single concept around which everything revolves: knowing how to listen to contrasts. From here arises order that slowly reveals itself from disorder, the asymmetry that becomes perfect, the contrast of materials such as marble and wood, so different yet so profoundly similar.

ZEN

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Every thought prefers the essential. Every meditation, whether precise or round, deep or barely sketched, provides well-being. Zen encapsulates this way of life. Its table top is a geometric manifesto of perfect imperfection, the supporting structure is an interplay of luminous marbles hidden in the soft shape of wood.

OASI

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Where there is water, there is lush vegetation, there is life. Oasi has a sturdy inlaid wooden root on which a mirror rests that reflects arboreal colours. Oasi is an idea of discovery, a place of hoped-for beauty that reveals itself to our eyes, emerges from the ordinary and makes it come alive.

COSMOS

Design Maurizio Manzoni

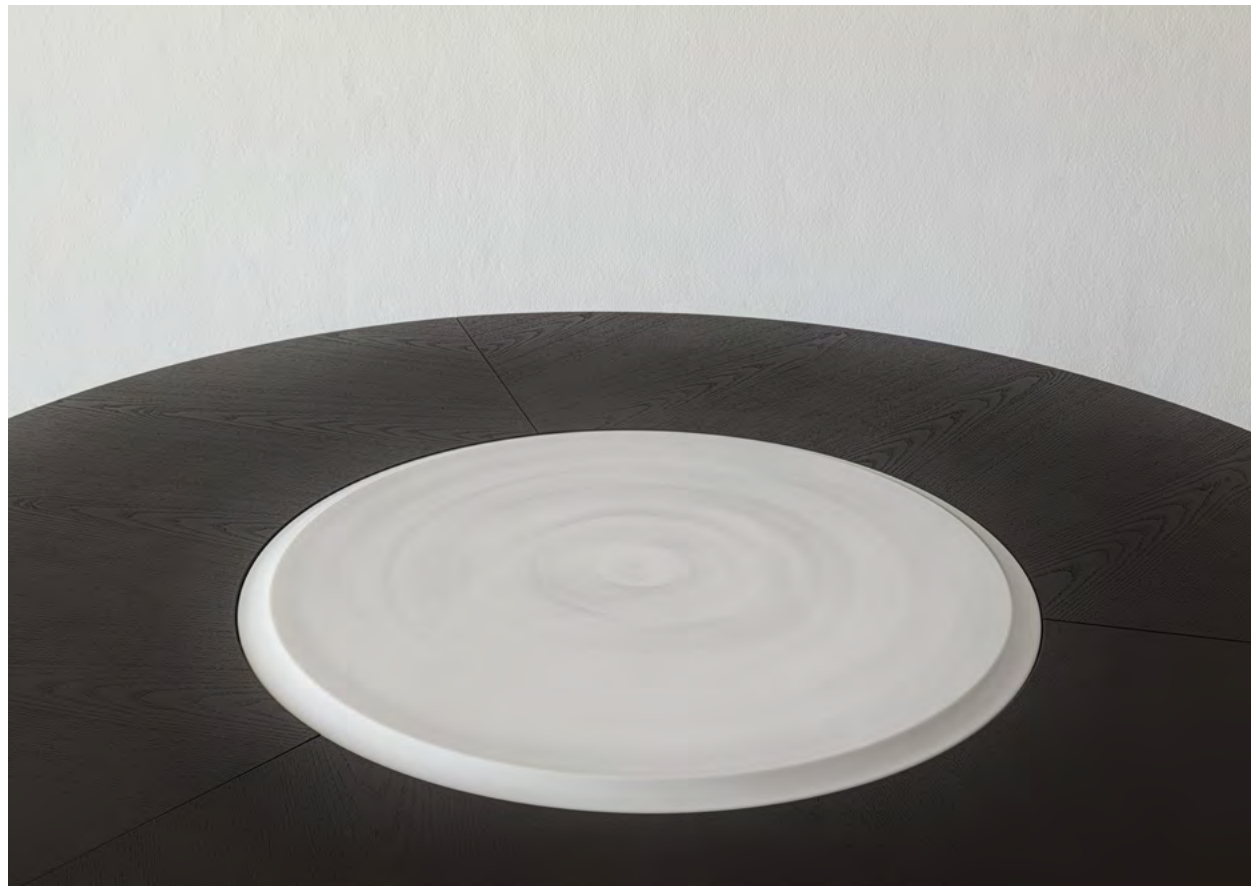

The chaos of matter always calls for a principle of order, of harmony of forms. Two concentric circles on the top correctly define this principle and depict it: a wooden disc that protects its precious marble core. This balance between the two materials remains in the base structure: three support points positioned on three identical angles, yet so undeniably different.

A message from the past passed through the rock and came to us in the writing of light and dark veins. Being original. Interpreting the origins and discovering that beauty, to be so, always needs to be complete, but imperfect. And that there are objects that do just that, make beauty complete. They are like silent notes, therefore imperfect, at the moment when all the instruments of the orchestra fall silent in unison and last for the time of a pause. The ear listens to that very moment, aware that that silence can never again equal itself.

Be original. Redefine the very concept of "point of view", without distorting the meaning of what you want to portray. Hills that become a large room to furnish, spaces made of silence and pleasant waiting, the style that makes the landscape different, although it is influenced by it. Be original. Reaching out the core of the ideas, the point where they originated, which is actually the beating heart of a project, what keeps it alive and makes it progress. Start from that point and extend across the plane, then duplicate it by adding new layers, then multiply them in space.

LAYER

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Like the layers of a rock, each one with its own history. Or like the memories that sediment within us, each one with its own meaning. Everything that is alive is also dynamic, it has within itself an idea of superimposed layers, we could call them levels. Layer is inspired by this concept: whoever observes it can distinguish the materials, one from the other, the colours so different from each other, the different heights that are hidden inside it, the precise horizontal and vertical divisions.

ALDER

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Nature has a passion for symmetry and in everything that exists in nature we may discover spatial symmetries. Alder puts these symmetries on stage, giving them shape and colour, so that wood and marble can coexist together, each material with its own density, each colour with its appropriate volume.

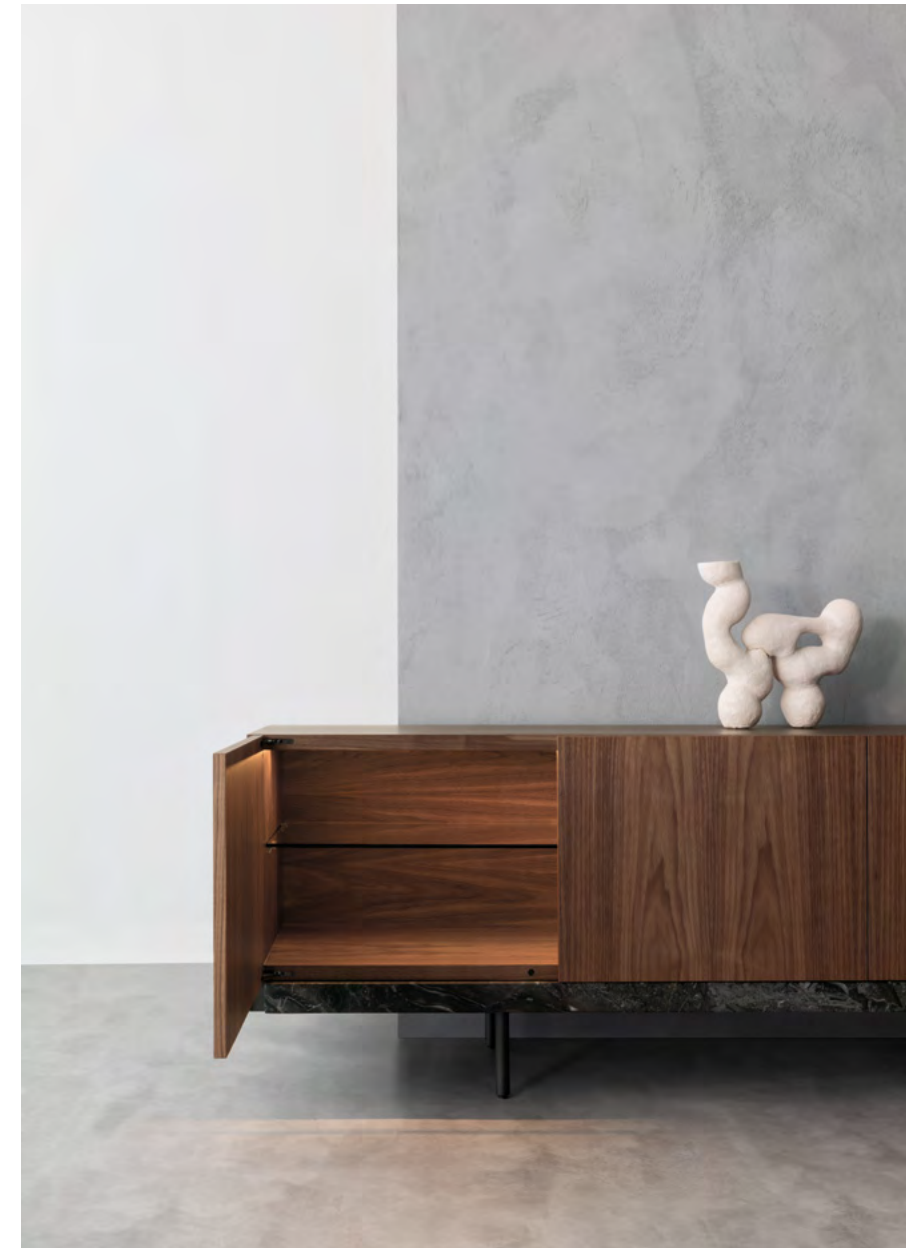

CORE

Design Maurizio Manzoni

A delicate heart and its indestructible shell need each other in order to be, to exist in harmony, to constitute an unbreakable unity. Core draws that image of mutual protection and its sight gives alternating emotions, depending on the angle from which you observe it: light and dark, strong and tender, severe and brilliant, the veins of the wood and the marble grain.

HIRO

Design Maurizio Manzoni

The atmosphere of festive days and the respect we dedicate to our most awaited guest, perhaps offering him company, words and spirits: these pleasant habits of ours immediately make us think to the light. Because there is light in a street party, there is light in the eyes of those we appreciate and again light in the reflections of a good liqueur. Hiro is 'the great light', an attraction that cannot go unnoticed and calls everyone to meet each other.

PILOTIS

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Elegance is, it does not want to appear, and opulence often hides within its details. Pilotis is a generous fragment of beauty, marble suspended on steel, a construction of style.

ASTER

Design Maurizio Manzoni

A decisive look, the bright colour of a precious detail, but also a direct gaze, a dazzling response. Aster is a console that looks like a visiting card: it presents itself effectively, without frills and without mincing words and immediately tells everyone who we are and not who we would like to be.

FINN

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Water and marble: so close yet so far. Different states of matter, very distant, united only by a thousand-year history. Yet the image created by placing them together seems perfect, because they both enhance the light and this lends vital energy to everything around them. The Finn console and its mirror reconstruct this image and crystallise it.

Be original. In the truest sense of the term, looking at the origin by definition, which is Nature, and drawing inspiration from it. By not just taking note of the shapes, sometimes harsh, other times gentle, but in any case, always unique, original. But trying to perceive also, and above all, the intentions that hide behind those shapes, their most emotional meaning and what makes it so pleasant for us to observe them.

ASTER

Design Maurizio Manzoni

Aster. A round table that is both very elegant and contemporary. This table merges perfectly three different materials: marble for the top, a wood cylinder, which can be produced in ash wood or lacquered, as the main part of the pedestal and a metal pedestal as the component of the base. The table design offers a variety of colour combinations and lends a symmetric movement to every ambience.

Table
